We hear you

This is no sleepy little town

A couple of weeks ago someone was complaining about the fact that the orchards have disappeared from Campbell. That the city was becoming overdeveloped. First of all, I don't think anyone can expect Campbell to remain a sleepy little town surrounded by one of the fastest growing cities in the country (San Jose). If this city hadn't taken the lead in planning for development we would have been swallowed up by that octopus long ago. And if you think we shouldn't have the businesses and industry we have just consider some of the other "bedroom cities" after Prop. 13. While we count our bags of (sales tax) money they are trying to figure out how to pay for their police and fire protection.

A CAMPBELL FAN

I can't believe how little notice our pony league all stars got from the media when they won the World Series. I'm not talking about the Campbell Press. But it seemed like all we heard or read about was the fact that the Danville little league team won the U.S. championship and lost to Taiwan.

DISGUSTED

Editor's note: you aren't alone in your reaction. We often receive comments about what another newspaper or TV station did or didn't cover. The best way to get a response (and maybe some action) is to direct your call to that radio or TV station or newspaper office.

I just wanted to read you the riot act. Our name is the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, not the International Order, as you had last week. I think I know where you got that from. The city called us "International" too.

Red Livingston

Editor's note: My apologies. I've always known the Odd Fellows were independent with a capital "I." In this case that word is both an adjective and a proper noun.

MATTHEWS RESIGNS . . .

Campbell High School head football coach Al Matthews resigned last Friday and by Tuesday afternoon a replacement had been found but had not been confirmed by district officials.

According to Dean Lloyd Gillespie there were several reasons for Matthews' resignation. "He was getting tired of coaching," Gillespie explained, "and discouraged by the lack of financial support for athletics. And not just at this school but all over."

The final straw, according to observors, was the fact that just 25 boys showed up for football practice this year compared to the usual 45 or 50.

Matthews' 22 year head varsity coaching career included stints at San Jose state university, Del Mar and Monterey high schools as well as 12 years at Campbell high.

For the full story see the sports section of the September 14 issue of the PRESS.

The city's pride in their world champion pony league team was evident to motorists along Winchester boulevard last week with the banner unfurled at the Latimer ave. intersection. The Campbell Moreland Pony League All-Stars topped Joliet, Ill., 2-1 in National City August 27 to take the crown. A reception honoring the team will be held on Sunday, Sept. 17 at the Pinehurst Inn, 1520 The Alameda, San Jose. No host cocktails start at 6 p.m. with the dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets for the steak dinner are $8 and reservations can be made by calling Jerry Paquin at 248-4731 or 295-8078. City surplus too high

State funding 'zero'

A REPORT issued by the state controller's office last week shows Campbell is slated to receive $277,660.32 in state surplus funds to replace part of the property tax income lost due to Proposition 13. But the city won't be getting that amount and, according to Finance Director Jeff Whittaker, the city's share may be zero.

"We won't know for sure until next week," Whittaker said Thursday. "It depends on the city surplus but that surplus will probably wipe it out altogether."

One of the hitches to receiving the state bail-out funds is that city surplus funds are taken into consideration. One third of those funds are deducted from the cities allocation. Originally Campbell was told its share was about $237,000. At that time there was no stipulation about surplus city funds.

THE LATEST proviso that stands to wipe out any share for Campbell is that unspent federal revenue sharing funds must be included as part of the surplus. This city's beginning balance in surplus funds for 1978-79 is an estimated $859,941 (including revenue sharing). One third of that surplus, $286,647, is higher than the state total earmarked for Campbell.

"Revenue sharing funds were not counted before," Whittaker explained, "and that should take us over the top."

The finance director says the lack of state bailout funds won't cause a financial crisis locally.

"IT WON'T materially affect the budget as adopted," Whittaker said, "but it may hurt items requested (in the capital improvement budget)." A decision on those items, as well as other expenses such as the annual Fourth of July celebration, were continued to the final budget hearing next week.

Another delay in sale of hospital

By PAT SAFFORD

The long anticipated sale of Campbell Community Hospital to O'Connor Hospital ran into another snag last week.

According to a spokesman for the San Jose hospital, it will be at least 10 days before that sale can go through escrow.

The bankruptcy judge handling the sale for the insolvent Campbell hospital owners was originally expected to okay the transaction by last Friday. But the judge reportedly felt the sale transaction had not been itemized sufficiently by Campbell hospital owners and requested more information.

The Campbell Civic Improvement Commission recently voiced concern to the City Council over the deteriorating vacant hospital site on Winchester boulevard south of Hamilton. The commission recommended that the city take "whatever measures are necessary" to prevent further deterioration.

At last week's city council session City Manager Bob Stephens reported that change of title was expected to pass to O'Connor any day and that O'Connor officials indicated they would take care of the building as soon as escrow closes.

Officials continued possible action on the complaint for two weeks.

LUCY UTLEY, 15, delivers a boot to the chops of George Chung. Chung will be the instructor in a self-defense class for women to be offered by Campbell Community Services this fall. Classes on interior decorating, flower design, food activities for children and a myriad of other offerings are planned as well. For more information call 378-8141.

Newsbriefs

JUST ONE APPLIES

One person applied for the vacancy on the Campbell Planning Commission by the September 1 deadline.

Henry C. Kahrmann, Jr., 190 W. El Caminito ave., noted in his application: "I have spoken before the Planning Commission on a number of occasions and find their work challenging and perhaps rewarding in promoting well-planned development."

The 62-year-old retired man, a 31-year resident of the area, was the lone applicant. Earlier, the city council considered four applicants from a previous vacancy but failed to reach a decision and decided to call for more applicants. The four were recontacted by the city to see if they wished to be considered again. They all declined.

DOT AVENUE PROPERTY TO BE SOLD

City councilmen last week postponed action on a resolution giving their intention to sell a 1.2 acre parcel of land originally purchased with bond funds for a fire station site.

The property, now zoned public facility, will first go before the Planning Commission for a possible zone change.

In the resolution presented last week the minimum amount the city will consider for the old orchard land was set at $145,000.

WATER RATES GO DOWN.

Effective August 23 the Campbell Water Company will be reducing rates by 2 cents per 100 cubic feet of water (750) gallons), President Homer Hyde announced last week.

The reduction came as a result of property tax savings to the company with the passage of Prop. 13. Property tax rates for the local firm went down by 46 percent or about $22,415.

According to Hyde, the reduction will produce a 36 cents per month savings on the average water bill.

"KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR" NIGHT

Campbell city officials, including the mayor and city manager, will speak at the "Know Your Neighbor" Night planned by the Quail Hollow Mobile Home Association on Saturday, September 16.

The potluck dinner meeting will be held in the clubhouse of the 1445 S. Bascom ave. mobile home park.

TAX RATE SET

City councilmen set 29 cents per $100 assessed valuation as the city's tax rate for 1978-79 to pay off bonded indebtedness.

The city needs to raise $548,000 next year to pay principal and interest on general obligation bonds.

Increases in state, federal power?

Jarvis-Gann called 'emotional reaction'

By CHUCK HILDEBRAND

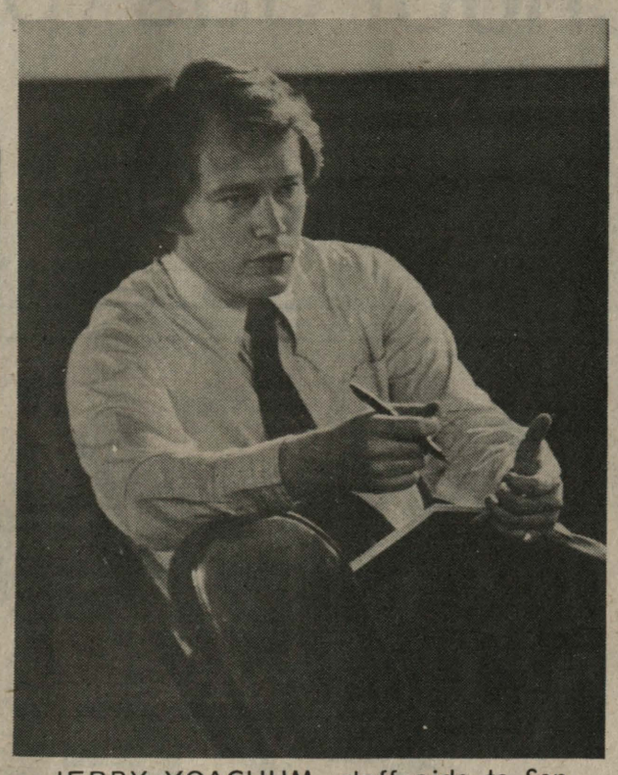
PROPOSITION 13 was an emotional reaction by voters who had no idea what they were getting into, and may result in more and more power being laid in the hands of state and local governments.

Those are two of the conclusions Jerry Yoachum, staff aide to Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.) has drawn after visiting with officials and private citizens throughout the Bay Area.

Yoachum visited Campbell last Wednesday, conferring with a number of local politicians and private citizens during his stay.

In an interview with the Press, Yoachum called the passage of Prop. 13 a warning to government that "we're gonna getcha."

But he doesn't buy the notion that politicians "haven't gotten the message" of the Jarvis-Gann initiative.



JERRY YOACHUM, staff aide to Sen. Alan Cranston, visited Campbell last week as part of a fact-finding tour of South Bay cities. His main objective was to hear officials and citizens give their opinions on the causes and effects of Proposition 13.

"There is no clear message to the politicians in Proposition 13, because it is such an ambiguous initiative," Yoachum said. "Everybody's an expert on how it should be implemented, and everybody's saying that cuts haven't been made where they should be. Everyone has their own interpretation as to just what it means."

Yoachum said that based on what he has been told by area residents, people are not willing to forego government-sponsored programs and money after passing Proposition 13.

"PEOPLE WANT to maintain services and want government help, but they also want taxes cut, and they can't have both," Yoachum maintained. "People think that we can fire a whole bunch of civil servants and use their salaries to fund these programs but it doesn't work that way."

As a result, he says, state and federal budget surpluses are being utilized to maintain the programs for the time being, but once those surpluses run out, major cutbacks are likely.

"When people voted for 13 they told the state, 'Now take over for us'," he said. "That's obviously put more power in the hands of Sacramento, and the same principle could carry over to Washington."

Yoachum said the public's ignorance about Prop. 13 had a lot to do with its passage. "Its passage obviously meant more power in the hands of the Feds and the state, but people didn't care about that," he opined.

"I'm sure that 99 percent of the people who voted for Prop. 13 didn't read it," he declared. "Because it's so ambiguous it's left the state like a ship without a navigator — nobody knows where it's going to take us."

Cranston, according to Yoachum, was opposed to Proposition 13 from the beginning but since it was passed he is doing his best to comply with it.

Yoachum said Cranston has introduced a bill in Congress that would enable local governments to gain access to the approximately $2 billion that will stay in federal coffers as the result of Prop. 13 instead of going to local governments in the form of grants-in-aid and revenue sharing.

CAMPBELL, according to Yoachum, is in better shape than most cities because only about 18 percent of its operating funds come from property taxes — as opposed to some cities, which rely on property tax revenue for almost half of their monies.

"From what I've seen, there won't be any immediate reductions in services right now," Yoachum noted. "But most cities are in a holding pattern. When the budget surpluses run out there will be major cutbacks."

"Obviously there's fat in government and it will be trimmed as soon as it's found," Yoachum observed. "One thing Sen. Cranston is concerned with is civil service reform — those working in government are expected to put in an honest day's work. But there isn't as much fat as people think there is."

According to Yoachum, Cranston thinks the best way to prevent unwise government spending is through "zero-base budgeting," which he intends to pursue on the Senate Budget Committee of which he is a member.

Under this concept, each agency requesting funds would be analyzed on the assumption that no money will be allocated unless the specific expenditure is justified — instead of the present system under which large agencies such as the Department of Defense and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are alloted money that isn't earmarked for a specific purpose.

"That way, we can determine whether every dollar we spend is worth it," Yoachum said. "Every agency should be analyzed and no agency should be a sacred cow."

ANOTHER CRANSTON priority, according to Yoachum, is the reduction of defense spending. He sees the current SALT talks between the U.S. and the Soviet Union as vital for that reason.

Cranston, relates Yoachum, also is concerned with the speedy adoption of a federal energy program so that American dependence on foreign oil can be reduced and the balance of payments situation improved.

Also, Yoachum says Cranston is pushing for a capital gains tax reduction, which would result in stimulation of the sluggish economy.

THE GENERAL FEELING Yoachum says he got from the people he talked to was one of dissatisfaction with government at all levels.

"It's the same everywhere you go," he reflected. "People just don't want to be governed and they don't like money being taken out of their pockets. They want government services but they don't want to pay for them. They think that the supply of government money is endless, but it's not."

No fare for school buses

Students in the Campbell elementary district won't be charged 10 cents a ride to take the bus to school this fall, trustees decided last Thursday.

Earlier, staffers had recommended charging for transportation to help offset part of the close to $200,000 in busing costs.

According to Ruby Giese, administrative assistant, trustees felt the 10 cents a ride idea wasn't practical.

If adopted that fare system would have meant the loss of partial state reimbursement for transportation costs.

'For sale' sign to go up on Hamilton School

Hamilton School will be on the selling block soon.

Last Thursday Campbell elementary trustees voted to seek an appraisal on the vacant school site prior to declaring it surplus and offering it for sale. A report on that appraisal and setting a minimum price is expected in early November.

Late last year, when negotiations with adult education for use of the school fell through, trustees voted to go ahead and sell the site if a lease arrangement was not worked out by March 15.

Trustees haven't decided yet whether to offer just the school site for sale or to also include the adjacent corporation yard which would bring the total land to 10.5 acres.

When that property is offered to government agencies first dibs goes to any jurisdiction planning to use the land for park purposes. After that other jurisdictions have first call and, before the site is offered on the open market, the former owners are notified. John Maravich, a former district employee, was the former owner.

As a cure for backache some people in the 1800's recommended a "tea" made from boiling old shoes.

Adult ed class

Symphonic band plays on

Things are looking up for hundreds of individuals now that the adult education program has been reinstated. But even though the program has been continued it is not the same.

Many courses on the rouster for many years have been eliminated due to a shortage of funds. The price too of adult education has gone up considerably.

It may be luck alone that enabled a 12-year-old part of adult education to get put on the next semester class schedule. But whether or not the acclaimed Symphonic Band will meet the requirements and last is another story.

According to Jim Marso, adult education music instructor and symphonic band director, musicians who sign up for the band course may be very disillutioned very early.

Symphonic band course changes include, location, length, and cost and this year, a minimum of 24 persons are required to take the class.

"We will go ahead and assemble the second week of September, but unless the musicians can pay $20 every nine weeks, get used to the new location, and don't mind practicing an hour less every week, the course won't make it," Marso said.

In past years the band practiced every Monday for three hours in the Campbell High School band room. This fall they will be practicing every Monday for two hours at San Jose High School.

"People will be paying on a tuition-type basis," Marso included. "With a minimum of 24 people required in every class and fees so high, it will be hard for the class to survive."

This summer when all adult education courses were cancelled, the symphonic band managed to stay together and perform in two of their three scheduled concerts.

On July 9 the band played at the Santa Clara Central Park and on July 13 at the Pruneyard.

"We had no rehersals at all before the performances," Marso said, "and our quality suffered badly. I had to cancel a third scheduled concert at the (Santa Clara County) fair because of this."

In past years the groups had made many appearances including a concert at the San Jose Center for the Performing Arts and had entertained for such people as former president Richard Nixon and former lt. governor Ed Reinecke.

Marso added that he hopes the band will be able to stick together, and keep a 12-year success going.

Director answers criticism

Parkside land 'best possible site for senior complex, Burns says

THE "CARLINO PROPERTY" next to John D. Morgan Park would be an excellent site for a senior citizen housing complex, according to the director of a county agency planning the 200-unit complex.

In a letter to Mayor Dean Chamberlin, John Burns, executive director of the county housing authority, parried criticism aimed at that plan by three city commissions: Civic Improvement, Parks and Recreation and Youth Advisory.

All three voiced concern over the proximity of that Rincon avenue land to Campbell Junior High School and noted more parkside land will be needed in the future for additional parking. The commissions also felt that land wasn't convenient to shopping areas.

IN HIS TWO-PAGE letter in response to those concerns Burns said the location by the park and school were additional reasons for locating the low-income senior housing there.

"The public park offers a restful place to stroll in addition to those areas which will be built into the complex," Burns said. ". . . The school will provide activity which can be observed without the need to participate." Burns added that trees and other barriers can be placed so as to mute whatever playground sounds exist. "At night time, when the tenants wish to sleep we can be certain the school grounds will not be cause for concern."

As for shoping areas, Burns said stores along Winchester boulevard are just .4 mile from the property, .8 mil to Campbell Plaza and 1 mile to both the Campbell Center and downtown Campbell. Hospitals are also accessible, he added, and the complex will also have a medical examining room available.

Instead of high rise development of the land, Burns declared, "the site is large enough to permit low-medium rise development so as to not be out of character with the neighborhood."

The director also stated there are no other vacant sites large enough and for sale available locally.

"WE FEEL THIS is the best possible site available at this time," Burns added. "If we are able to purchase the property the City Council will be well informed and, we hope, much involved in assisting us in making this one of the most outstanding developments in Campbell."

The county has already received federal approval and funding for the subsidized rental complex. A difference between the government appraisal of the four-plus acre site and the asking price is the apparent cause of a delay in finalizing the sale.

Back to school time means some lonely hours for local pooches used to a morning romp with their young masters. Russell Barrows and Tony Wake (shown with Foxy Lady and Sarge) join thousands of youngsters returning to the classroom this Monday, September 11, in the Campbell and Moreland elementary districts and Campbell high school district. For St. Lucy students classes started September 5.

MISSING MAN'S BODY FOUND

The body of George T. Smith, 73, was found last weekend by hunters in the E. San Jose foothills seven weeks after he was reported missing from the Retirement Inn of Campbell.

According to police, the man is believed to have died from injuries sustained when he fell down a hill in the rugged terrain near Fleming road. A coroner's report is pending.

Smith was the object of a widespread search after he reportedly wandered away from the local facility on July 14. Smith had moved to the Campbell center from the firm's San Jose facility on July 1.

BASEBALL FIELD DAMAGED

The baseball field at Campbell High School was badly damaged late last month after someone drove a vehicle over the turf, tearing up the grass.

Damage of the malicious mischief was set at $500.

DRIVE-THROUGH BUSINESS ROBBED

A young clerk in the Fotomat booth at 3391 S. Winchester boulevard was reportedly robbed of a small amount of cash last Saturday afternoon by a suspect who drove up on a very noisy motorcycle.

According to reports, the man threatened the clerk with a knife before driving off with the cash.

STRONG ARM ROBBERY

A 61-year-old Campbell man was reportedly forced from his car, struck and robbed Sunday night in the parking lot of the PruneYard shopping center.

According to reports, the man had just entered his car when three suspects forced him out, one struck him in the face and another grabbed his wallet before the trio fled on foot south on Bascom avenue.

The man suffered a broken tooth in the assault.

It's illegal to sew at home for money

A SAN JOSE businessman ran into trouble with the state department of industrial relations recently after he commissioned 12 women to sew blouses in their homes for resale. One of the home workers was a Campbell woman.

According to state special investigator Kurt Barthel, businessman Suk Chung was fined $1,200 for not having workers' compensation insurance for the women, had $1,000 worth of blouses confiscated and could face prosecution on a misdemeanor charge.

It is a violation of Sect. 2651 of the state labor code to produce food, drink, clothes, toys, dolls, etc. in the home for sale.

BARTHEL SAID FRIDAY that Chung had been employing the women since last September and let them use one of his industrial sewing machines (for a fee) to produce the women's blouses which were sold to a large clothing wholesaler. Barthel said that, in addition to the fine, he also planned to take the case to the district attorney's office this week for possible prosecution. Violation of this state code can bring up to a maximum fine of $1,000 plus a jail term, Barthel said, adding that most industrial violators get a "slap on the wrist" from judges.

THE STATE INVESTIGATED the case, he added, after receiving an anonymous phone tip.

An attorney for Chung who asked not to be identified, said Monday his client was not aware he was violating that "little known law" against homeworkers. "It became effective on Jan. 1, 1976 I think," the San Jose attorney added.

He disputed the total fine imposed on Chung and also had some criticism of the new state law. "The fine was for $300, not $1,200," he declared, "and the real problem is that this eliminates people with small children from working at home." He added that all 12 workers were earning more than minimum wages.

The pipe (water) between our house and the meter at the parking strip has developed a significant leak. We've received three bids ranging from $230 to $550 for replacement. It seems that most of the cost will be for the labor of digging a 30-foot trench that is about two feet deep. Any way that these costs can be cut?

Bob McNiel
Palo Alto

Do it yourself and dig it yourself. Since you do have a leak, the pipe from the meter to the house is probably galvanized steel and not copper. Make sure that you or the plumber spends a little more and replaces the line with copper.

It's often possible to connect the new copper pipe to the old leaking steel pipe at the house and draw the new pipe through to the parking strip meter. This requires the use of a very powerful truck mounted winch with which some plumbing companies are equipped and allows the pipe to be replaced with little or no digging and disturbance of the lawn or shrubs.

The average replacement costs for this process is around $225 including the material.

I took the car in for new tires and wheel alignment and after they installed the tires they told me they couldn't and wouldn't align the front wheels unless I had both upper and lower ball joints replaced at $156. Remembering your lecture at De Anza, I took the car away immediately and dropped in on the Sears Mountain View store for a confirming opinion. They found the ball joints in perfect order and were able to align the front end in 15 minutes. Thank you for your advice; it saved me money.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): If you ever intend to break out of confines, Ari, you must recognize opportunity when it arises. You must then be ready to grab it by the throat and make the most of it. Don't fear challenge. When it beckons —leap!

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): If you postpone short-term pleasure for long-term gain, when bandwagon comes rolling by, you'll be ready to jump on board. Let others see that you're willing to pull your own weight — and then some. Week ends on key of B for bullish.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Decide where your real interests and talents lie, Gem, and then dig in. You have a great reservoir of energy and imagination which you have not yet tapped. Dig deeply enough this week and you just may strike mother lode. Eureka!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Everyone has a story to tell, Moonbaby, but this week it is your turn to just shut up and listen. Pay close attention to details and nuances, for one who confides may speak in code. Before week is over wishy-washy relationship goes down the drain. Good riddance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Set your course for liberation, Leo, and if you are realistic you will achieve your goal. Fear of failure can have no place in your plans. Respond to challenge. Freedom is the name of the game, Leo, and it's the best game in town. You'll see.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You approach fork in road. Don't be confused by profusion of signs. Less-traveled road beckons with subtle mystery and because you are of independent nature, Virgo, you are intrigued. Little voice inside tells you which way to go. Listen.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Questions arise concerning very personal matter, Libra, but don't tell all at this time. Answer with vague generalities. Concerning matter of the heart, action is recommended. "Gather ye rosebuds." Now. Before they wilt from waiting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Hunches are strong. Follow them. If daily associate gives you any flack — tell this dimwit to go shinny up a wax rope. Then proceed to do as you jolly well please. Week ends on note of confidence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Joint effort needs closer attention. Avoid that which appears chancy and stick to conservative action. In dealing with associates, you gain if you persuade rather than resort to force. Before week is kaput, romance saunters down the boulevard. Be ready.

$60,000 tab for library room

Picture rosy for senior citizen center

THE ONE-TIME cost for converting a large storage room at the Campbell library into a senior citizen center could run as high as $60,000, City Manager Bob Stephens noted last week. But there would be no lease fees and the only ongoing expense would be for utilities and janitorial services.

Last week city councilmen gave staff the go ahead to proceed with negotiations with the county for use of that downstairs area. Final approval of the city-county agreement is up to county supervisors but after initial talks last week County Librarian Barbara Campbell noted, "we see no problem (with the agreement) from our end."

In return for letting the city use that storage area for a senior center, the county is asking that the room be finished for eventual use for children's activities. Lion's share of the estimated $60,000 cost would be for expanding the air conditioning and heating system to serve that area.

ORIGINALLY THE city was looking at a $800 a month rental fee for use of a former billiard parlor on Campbell avenue. Renovation costs would have been about $20,000.

The city recently revised their application for federal Title V funds to include this $60,000 estimate for the library room. The original $20,000 grant (with an additional $6,000 to be put up by the city) had an excellent chance for approval. Whether the city can get additional funds to defray the new $60,000 price tag is in doubt.

Eight applications (including Campbell's) have been submitted for Santa Clara County cities and, according to Stephens, if one of these is turned down more federal funds could be available for the Campbell project.

The drive to acquire a regular meeting spot for local senior citizens came from Campbell Community Seniors, a city-sponsored group which now meets twice monthly in the Community Room of the library.

$200,000 cut

Budget cutback brings shorter library hours

A 10 percent reduction in the county library budget has brought a cutback in hours for the Campbell public library, the second in three years.

Starting this week the 70 N. Central ave. facility opens at noon instead of 10 a.m. on Mondays and Tuesdays and closes at 6 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

According to County Librarian Barbara Campbell the cutback forced a decision to either reduce the level of services at branch libraries or curtail hours. The seven hour weekly cut was ordered last month (from 60 to 53 hours).

While the 17 full time equivalent staff members at the Campbell library have not been cut back, according to Campbell, the shorter hours will bring about a $200,000 decrease in the cost for temporary fill-in help. That budget total went from more than $500,000 to $300,000 this year.

The Campbell branch will be adding additional employees, the county library executive said. A full-time library assistant II has been approved along with a half-time clerk position.

"Campbell was a little understaffed before," the county official explained.

Park security aides have plenty to do

By VICKI JOHNSEN

IT'S CLOSE to midnight and although the surrounding area appears calm, Karen Clark and Rick Fields, John D. Morgan Park security guards, have a tough task ahead.

Clark considers the problem "very embarrassing," the uncoupling of two entwined lovers, telling them the park is closed, and sending them on their way.

For the last nine months, however, Clark, 20 has managed to put up with after dark parking lot follies, hassles with people over dogs, tree carvers, restroom graffiti artists, and litterers and maintain her post as one of Morgan Park's security staff. Fields, 25, has managed for over a year.

"I really love the job," Clark said. "There are a few boring moments but most of it is really enjoyable, especially the p.r. involved."

Clark explained a great deal of her work as a security guard is public relations. She noted that this part of the work she doesn't mind a bit because it has enabled her to meet a lot of interesting folks.

"My favorite part of the work is talking to the people," Clark said. She added that she takes walks with many park visitors.

Clark noted that she especially enjoys the children. "I would say meeting the kids is the most rewarding part of the job. One thing I try to do is show them cops are not all like television shows depict them as being."

Clark and Fields are not Campbell police officers but have a direct line to the station for immediate assistance by an officer when needed.

"We do not have the power to cite," Clark said, "but we can call for an officer for anything out of our hands and one will respond in minutes."

KEEPING DOGS out of the park and preventing vandalism are the major tasks Morgan Park security guards must perform.

"Generally, we keep an eye on everything — the entire park as well as the adjoining school (Campbell Junior High School)," she said.

"YOU DON'T HAVE TO CLIMB A MOUNTAIN TO GAIN ENLIGHTENMENT."

The Consumer Information Catalog is put out by the Federal Government. And it lists over 200 of their booklets that you can send away for. Most are free. And they can help you with things like how to buy a home, how to grow vegetables, how to deal with headaches, simple plumbing repairs and many other everyday and not-so-everyday problems.

But, if you wish to know about how to fix a leaky faucet, send for the catalog. Write: Consumer Information Center, Dept. A, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Remember, it's free. Which is only right. After all, the first step towards enlightenment shouldn't enlighten your pocketbook.

DURING THE MOVIE, "The Godfather," Marlon Brando was doing more than just making offers people couldn't refuse — he was also doing a lot of kissing!

But it wasn't just a pleasurable little smooch when Brando planted a peck on the cheek of a fellow gangster — that was what's commonly known in the underworld as "The Kiss of Death."

Folks leaving the Corleone house with lipstick on their collars didn't have much of a future — it wouldn't be too long before they would meet the Grim Reaper.

Well, this is the time of year when I slap a big, wet kiss on the cheeks of a few high school football coaches in the area. I'm about to give out my own "Kiss of Death" by predicting what teams will win championships this fall in the Mt. Hamilton, West Valley and Santa Teresa Athletic Leagues!

Bob Crabtree, play-off bound?

Now, why would my picking a team to win a title prove as a "Kiss of Death," especially after picking two out of three last season? Well, let's just look at my record.

In seven years of predicting high school football champs in the area, I've nailed just six on the nose — in 21 tries!

THAT FIGURES OUT to be an average of just about .286 and puts me in the company of guys like Dave Kingman of the Chicago Cubs — sometimes I look powerful, but I sure strike-out a lot!

Last year, though, I started to turn things around a bit. I picked Andrew Hill to win the MHAL title and Live Oak to win in the STAL. The Falcons beat Ayer in the Mt. Hamilton play-offs and the Acorns tied for the STAL crown with Leland and Lincoln.

And this year it looks like I've got them all — there's no doubt!

In the MHAL North, Independence and Milpitas look like the teams to beat, with Overfelt the darkhorse. The 76er's have the size, but the Patriots have the speed and will sprint to the North division title.

In the South division there's a real race brewing. Hill is again huge and the defending champs look very strong. Oak Grove is everyone's pick as the favorite but Yerba Buena and Mt. Pleasant have a lot of people returning and could contend. But we have to go with Phil Stearns and his Eagles to roll to the division title.

In the title game, it appears that Oak Grove's depth will prove too much for Bob Crabtree's Patriots and the Eagles will win the MHAL.

THE STAL COULD be a real donneybrook. Some people rate Gunderson as unbeatable but Gilroy returns with almost its exact same squad from 1977. At Live Oak and Leland the programs are tough to beat and Willow Glen looks to be better than its been in years.

But with 22 underclassmen listed on last year's tough roster, it looks like Leland's the team to beat in the STAL and should win the title and a berth in the Central Coast Section play-offs for the sixth time in seven years.

Down in the WVAL it could be another one of those years. The West Valley league has been a dogfight ever since Saratoga left the fold two years ago. Any team is capable of beating another on a given day.

But Los Gatos has managed to come out on top in each of those last two seasons and should be the champ again in 1978. Branham and Campbell seem to always rank as contenders with Leigh an outside threat.

That's the way things stack up in the 1978 football race — Oak Grove, Milpitas, Leland and Los Gatos are the teams to watch. And they'll be easy to recognize with that hint of lipstick on their noseguards!

News about the neighborhoods — you'll find it here each week.

Pony Stars World champs

THE CAMPBELL-Moreland Pony League All-Stars helped prove a point this past month — that Santa Clara County is truly the "Youth Baseball Capital of the World"!

The Pony Stars of 1978 became the 11th Santa Clara County team to win a World Championship when they handled Joliet, Ill., 2-0 on Aug. 27 in the finals of the Pony League World Series in National City, near San Diego.

Bud Stallings led his team to the 1978 World title to become the 11th World champ from the County and the second World champion from the Campbell-Moreland Pony League.

The San Jose Colts of 1960 won the first World title for the County before the Moreland Little League won the World crown in 1962. The C-M Pony Leaguers won a World championship in 1964 followed by the West Valley Colts in 1966, the Santa Clara Colts in 1969, the Central Coast Big Leaguers in 1971, the Santa Clara Mission Pony League in 1973, the Santa Clara Colts and the San Jose Thorobreds in 1975 and the San Jose Thorobreds in 1976.

Santa Clara County has also turned out two more National champions over the years, including the Santa Clara Briarwood Little League in 1969 and the Campbell Little League in 1976.

AND NINE MEMBERS of that National championship Little League team of 1976 were on the Pony League team in 1978 that won the World championship.

Mike Walsh, Ed Rodriguez, Bob Straight, Paul Sargis, Rich Alvarez, Dominic Costantino, Scott Freear, John Murphy and Al Vanegas were each members of that Campbell Little League All-Star team in 1976 that won the National title before losing to Tokyo, Japan, 10-3 in the World championship game.

But those nine players, along with Glen Davis, Bill Roberts, Brett Blackwell, Eric Crawford, Steve Clinton and Harold Sutherland, returned to the World Cahmpionships in 1978 and won it all!

It all started at John D. Morgan Park in Campbell on Aug. 9 when Alvarez knocked in three runs and was the winning pitcher for Campbell in a 4-0 victory over Santa Clara. And 13 games and 3,000 miles later, the Campbell bunch had won a World title.

Campbell lost its second game in the Northern California Regional tournament on its home field to Diablo Valley 4-1 but came back to crush Pittsburg, Cal., 10-0, to set up a championship double-header with Diablo Valley.

Alvarez flipped a four-hitter and Roberts delivered a game winning single to lift Campbell to a 5-4 win in the first game and Roberts drove in two big runs with a double and Costantino made a game-saving, diving catch to help Campbell to a 6-5 win in the second game.

ALONG WITH Costantino, catcher Walsh, shortstop Sargis and centerfielder Sutherland played outstanding devensively to help Campbell claim the NorCal title.

From there it was on to Kennewick, Wash., for the Western Divisionals. Sargis tossed a three-hit shut-out to lead Campbell past host Kennewick 3-0 in the opener and Alvarez backed that with a one-hit shut-out over Wilmington, Cal., for a 1-0 victory.

But Campbell left 10 runners on base in a 6-4 loss to Southwest Seattle to fall into the loser's bracket.

Roberts drove in three runs to pace Campbell to an 8-4 win over Wilmington to get the locals into another championship double-header and Campbell had little trouble claiming the Western Division crown.

Walsh and Alvarez combined for a no-hitter in the 12-0 win over SW Seattle in the first game and Roberts cracked an important two-run homer over the same club to spark Campbell to a 7-2 win and the championship.

Then it was on to National City where Alvarez flipped a four-hitter in the opener over Puerto Rico for a 5-1 win.

Sargis was the winning pitcher and Roberts knocked in one run and scored another to help Campbell past Joliet 3-1 and into the finals.

In that title game, Alvarez was superb, fanning 13 on his way to a no-hitter.

Walsh, who gunned down 12 runners trying to steal in the three tournaments, cut down his 12th in this game and Vanegas cracked a pair of hits and drove in a run. Roberts doubled and scored a run and Freear knocked in Sargis with a sacrifice fly to lead Campbell to the World title.

Stallings was the manager of the World championship club. Chuck Calhoun was the club's coach and Ray Sargis the business manager.

No Names grab share of first

THE NO NAMES, thanks to a helping hand from Baver Concrete, moved into a first place tie in the second half of the Campbell adult softball league's B division title race last week.

The No Names topped the Barons 13-9 while Baver Concrete was upsetting previously unbeaten Killroy 6-4 to create a tie for the B division's top spot. Both the No Names and Killroy boast 6-1 records.

The No Names out-hit the Barons 17-10 on their way to victory. John Salazar belted a home run for the losers.

Killroy, meanwhile, could manage just seven hits in its loss to Baver Concrete, a team that had won just once in six previous second half outings.

In other B division games, the New York Lifers trimmed Sticks and Stones 17-14, Steve Peacock slipped past Togos 14-12 and Ying Yang nipped Kamper Kits 5-4.

In C division games, Biggam Enterprises pounded Clossco 10-2 but Clossco came back to rip the Tonko Blues 19-9. Bill's Transmission tripped Kragen Auto 16-14.

Drivers can double their NASCAR point

ALL SEASON long race fans have been getting "two for the price of one" at the San Jose Fairgrounds Speedway when the super modifieds and late model sportsman race cars would share the spotlight for a Saturday night oval show.

But this Saturday night it won't just be the fans getting double their money's worth at the NASCAR race at the fairgrounds — the drivers will too!

The super modified and sportsman drivers will get double points on Saturday when they roll in the final point race of the season in the Winston-Coors racing series at the Fairgrounds.

Double points will be offered in both divisions in the Saturday show. The night's feature will be a 40 lap main event in the super modified division.

Lloyd Beard took over the modified point lead after a main event win on August 26 and Larry Lundin of San Jose held his lead in the sportsman division.

Beard set new track records in the trophy dash and his heat race on his way to victories before posting his fourth main event win of the season to up his point total to 206, pushing him past second place Dave Pombo at 198.

GEORGE Steitz is close behind the two at 182 after finishing second in the dash and second in the main. He also could walk off with the title with a pair of strong performances to finish the season.

Mark Sargent of San Jose is fourth on the point list at 109 with Art McCarthy of San Jose fifth at 102, John Brazil sixth at 96, Mike Parker seventh at 92, Jerry Freitas and Mike McCann of San Jose tied for eighth at 86 and Mike Sargent of San Jose 10th at 79.

Jack Epperson of San Jose is 11th at 73 with Nick Ringo of San Jose and Par Rose of San Jose tied for 12th at 71, Chuck Miller of San Jose 14th at 60, Dana Stahl 15th at 48, Dan Smith of San Jose 16th at 47, Bob Henrich 17th at 44, Joe Bailey and Jerry Robertson of San Jose tied for 18th at 42 and Ernie Rose of San Jose 20th at 37.

Beard won the first heat race with Pombo second and Smith third and Hopper took the second heat race with Miller second and Steitz third.

The same night, Dennis Morgan tightened things up in the sportsman point race with a main event win.

Lundin, who managed to escape injury when his car became airborne and flew 40 feet over a backstretch fence, leads the point race at 154 but Morgan is now a close second at 146. Davy Byrd, the defending point champ, is third at 124.

Herb Doxtater is fourth in the point race at 107 followed by Vern Anderson of Campbell at 98, Felix DeLeon of San Jose at 82, Jerry Mostek of San Jose at 74, Mitch West at 72, Guy Pacheco of San Jose at 66, Nick Foster at 59, Dennis Sargent of Milpitas and Jon Wilford of Campbell at 58 each, Wes Edens and Scott Williamson at 56 each, Ken Naber at 50, Tony Capote at 49, Dave Thomas at 48, Bob Blake at 44 and Dave Alonzo, Bill Heiser of San Jose and Dennis Laufenberg of San Jose at 40 each.

WV Strikers cop title

THE WEST SANTA CLARA Youth Soccer League's 1978 season hasn't officially started yet, but already one of its teams is a champion.

The West Valley Strikers, last year's Bantam division kingpins, traveled to Alberta, Canada, this past holiday weekend and captured the Calgary Minor Soccer Invitational tournament title.

The Strikers, the only American squad in the 16-team Bantam division, breezed to the tourney championship by posting four consecutive victories.

West Valley overpowered its opponents during the two day tournament, scoring 22 goals in the four games while allowing none.

The local soccer squad opened the tournament with an 8-0 rout of Marlborough followed by identical 5-0 wins over Kelonna and Thorncliff.

The Strikers then bested Lake Bonavista 4-0 in the tournament finals to capture the championship.

Forward Thomas Silvas and goalie Joe Gangale sparked the Strikers' drive to the title. Silvas scored 12 goals in the four games and Gangale posted four shutouts.

SILVAS BEGAN his scoring tear with three goals in the win against Marlborough. Mark Olejnik, son of head coach John Olejnik, scored twice while Pat Stanton, Lenny Golbranson and Steve Cheatham each tallied once.

Against Kelonna, Silvas again scored three times. Stanton and Cheatham each chipped in with one goal.

Silvas remained consistent by scoring three goals in the win over Thorncliff. Olejnik and Stanton both scored once.

In the finals, Silvas again scored three times while Olejnik tallied once.

Aiding Gangale in his four shut-outs were fullbacks John Gill, Glen Eckhoff, Greg Antonicic, Tom Azevedo and Rory Czapkay, and halfbacks Golbranson, Stanton, Olejnik and William Berry.

Rounding out the Strikers' championship unit were Mike Bosco and Bruce Ramirez.

"All of the boys played spectacularly," praised Striker coach Olejnik.

Last year the Strikers posted a 30-4-5 record. This fall they will move up into the 15-16 year old division of the West Santa Clara Youth Soccer League.

Vikings hope for better things in '78 grid year

By DAVE MENDONCA

THE WEST Valley College Vikings suffered through a long season last year in the Golden Gate Conference, a very long season.

The Vikes managed to win only one of 10 games in 1977 and finished eighth in the nine team GGC race.

But Viking mentor John Nicholas and his coaches are looking forward to better things in 1978. After all, things can't get much worse.

Although Nicholas doesn't expect his Vikings to challenge for the GGC championship this year, the WVC coach feels his club is capable of finishing somewhere in the middle.

A contingent of 16 returning lettermen spearhead the Vikings' hopes in '78. The letterman list includes Alex Roth, Troy Gilliand, Quin Cordero, Bill Tantillo, Dan Browning, Bob Claborn, Marty Mullins, Dave Bakke, Scott Hoefling, Russ Rhodes, Jim Sorrentino, John Williams, Galen Strannigan, Rick Tarter, Ed Vaughn and Ruark Rhodes.

TANTILLO, a graduate of Branham high school, is the key to the Viking offense, returning to his starting quarterback job. Serving as his back-up will be freshman Bob Comeau.

Battling for running-back spots will be Cordero, Jerry Burke, Kevin Moddy, Rick Sunzeri, Gordon Perry and Dave Angarole.

The West Valley receiving corps will include Gilliland, Marcel Adame, Bob Schiro and Mark Ramirez.

Fighting for berths in the offensive line will be Claborn, Mullins, Jim Pappa, Kirk Fraley, Bob Skrabe, Frank Alvarado and Rob Kreson.

Freshman Tim Linerud will serve as the Viking kicker.

Defensive line hopefuls include Williams, Rhodes, Art Blackwell and Jeff Morgan.

Vying for linebacking spots are Bakke, Hoefling, Rhodes, Sorrentino and Bob Hamm.

Competing for defensive back berths are Strannigan, Tarter, Vaughn, Dan Rozewicz and Willie Richardson.

Assisting Nicholas, who is beginning his 10th season as a coach at West Valley, will be Gary Evans (defensive backs), Kim Rhodes (linebackers), Sam Best (defensive line) and Don Woolley (offensive line).

The Vikes open their '78 season Saturday night in Santa Maria against Alan Hancock College.

West Valley then opens its GGC slate two weeks later against De Anza College.

Winter loop Pony program to stress participation

PARTICIPATION and experience will be the name of the game as Campbell-Moreland Pony League, savoring its recent World Series championship, awaits the opening of its ninth consecutive winter league baseball season.

Sign-ups will be conducted Saturday, Sept. 9, between 10 a.m. and noon, at the John D. Morgan Park Pony clubhouse. Registration fee is $7.

Eligible to participate are only those boys who reside within the league boundaries and qualify (age) for membership in the Campbell-Moreland Pony program next summer (1979).

Before the nine-Saturday program gets under way Saturday, Sept. 23, two clinics will be conducted at Morgan Park with several members of the world champion C/M Pony League all-star team participating.

On Sunday, Sept. 10 (day after sign-ups), a clinic for pitchers and catchers will be conducted. Rich Barry, a Pony League manager, assisted by Mike Walsh, catcher and captain of the all-star team, will supervise the catchers.

A second clinic on baserunning will be conducted Saturday, Sept. 16, at 10:30 a.m., with all-stars Paul Sargis, Eddie Rodriguez, Eric Crawford and Dominic Costantino assisting.

The clinics will be held with the newcomer in mind as emphasis will be placed on pitching from the stretch, base leads and jumps, and basecaoch communication. Pony League holdovers are also welcome to attend.

What is the Winter League concept anyway?

Simple. The highest priorities are participation and learning.

There are no trophies, no standings and no championship to win.

Several special rules have been put into effect to guarantee maximum playing time; such as, every boy must play at least three innings of each game; if a boy doesn't start one game, he must start the next; each boy must play seven innings for every three games he plays.

ANOTHER rule, which affects the pitching department, limits each hurler to 50 pitches or three innings per game, whichever comes first. In some cases, certain advanced holdover pitchers will be limited to two innings.

Another winter league feature is that no organized team practices will be allowed once the league season begins.

To compensate, however, a weekly "open house" clinic for members of all Campbell teams will be held each Wednesday from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 27. This clinic, conducted under adult supervision with various Pony graduates assisting, will stress those areas — such as hitting and fielding — as requested by those attending.

In addition, each team manager will be allowed to conduct occasional optional sessions with small groups. And prior to each Saturday game, managers will be conducting brief instructional drills.

Although competitiveness will prevail in winter league play as in any other athletic contest, the winning aspect will be secondary to such higher priorities as participation and experience. All managers have agreed to focus on one common purpose: provide the boys maximum opportunity to gain the type of playing experience so as to make their 1979 baseball season more enjoyable and satisfying.

SOS attorney is disappointed at judge's rulings

By CHUCK HILDEBRAND

RESPONSE to the dismissal of the Save Our Schools committee's suit against the Campbell Union School District on August 15 was one of shock in the losers' camp.

Jim Rohner, attorney for SOS, said he was "disappointed and surprised" that Santa Clara County Superior Court judge Marilyn Pestarino Zecher rejected all nine grounds of action.

"You're talking to a guy that's been knocked out," Rohner said. "What do you say?"

Rohner said he was especially upset the judge did not find the CUSD Board of Trustees in violation of the Brown Act by discussing school closures in executive session.

"I read the judge's decision and it seems to me it could have gone either way," he said.

The suit, seeking a permanent injunction against the closings of Quito, Cypress, Moorpark, San Tomas and Sherman Oaks schools within the next year, was filed in April. It also sought a writ of mandate, declaratory relief and damages of $5,000 plus court and attorney's costs.

Rohner said he would discuss the matter with leaders of the SOS group before a decision on whether to appeal the ruling would be made.

John Dickson

From soccer to tennis machines for locallite

By VICKI JOHNSEN

IT MAY seem odd that a former semi-professional soccer player found a life in tennis but, according to Campbell businessman, John Dickson, it was a case of perfect timing.

Dickson is the manufacturer of Flex-A-Ball, a battery operated tennis pitching machine.

"In 1970 I was 56," Dickson said, "and uncomfortably approaching mandatory retirement at age 65. I decided to get out of manufacturing for corporations, which I had done for over 35 years, and go into business for myself."

Dickson continued that he quit his position as manufacturing director for a firm in Columbus, Indiana, moved to California, and in 1971 joined a partnership with Don Wright.

Shortly after their business began, Dickson reflected, University of Santa Clara tennis coach, Bob Phelphs, came to the business with a concept for a tennis machine.

"The three of us worked together," Dickson said, "and with combined efforts came up with Flex-A--Ball." According to Dickson, it was the first battery operated tennis pitching machine in the U.S.

DURING the seven years Dickson has been in business, he has sold over 70 machines all over the Bay Area. He has also distributed them to the east coast, midwest, and one to England.

Although Dickson considers himself semi-retired, at 64, he's now in the midst of organizing a new punch-press business. He also plans to manufacture a new, improved tennis machine which will sport a scoring system along with other new wrinkles.

The local businessman recently took the new machine to Dennis Vande-Meer, former coach of Billie Jean King, and had it critiqued. VandeMeer's reaction was "very positive," said Dickson.

"Hopefully, "Dickson said, "It will be on the market this year.

So much for retirement.

FORMER semi-professional soccer player John Dickson stands beside the tennis pitching machine (Flex-A-Ball) he manufactured seven years ago. Although the semi-retired Campbell businessman has played tennis, he made clear his real kick was soccer.
